

KOREA CASTS HER LOT
WITH THE JAPANESE

night the Japanese torpedo boats appeared in the harbor, and the battleship Retvizan and the four batteries opened fire on them. Battery No. 18 reports having sunk one of the enemy's torpedo boats.

"At 9 o'clock in the morning a squadron of fourteen vessels was sighted in the distance.

"Maps of Port Arthur and Port Adams and a chart of the Yellow sea were discovered aboard the enemy's vessels which were sunk in the night attack of Feb. 24. Conducting wires and electric batteries were found on the vessel which caught fire. The wires were cut by port mines. The fire has been extinguished."

NO LOSS OF LIFE.

Togo's Attempt to Bottle Up Russian Fleet Failed.

Tokio, Feb. 25.—Vice Admiral Togo's attempt to bottle up the Russian fleet at Port Arthur by sinking a fleet of stone-laden merchant steamers in the mouth of the harbor yesterday failed, though the vessels caused no loss of life, and the vessels lost were not of great value.

Five ships were prepared by Vice Admiral Togo for the attempted blockade. Four are reported to have been sunk, but the fate of the fifth is unknown here. It is presumed that it withdrew with the other Japanese vessels. The five vessels were filled with stones so as to make the obstruction permanent, and were manned by volunteer merchant crews. It was impossible to select naval officers and sailors, on account of their great rivalry to participate in the daring venture.

Steamers Dashed In.

Accompanied by four battleships, nine cruisers and numerous vessels of the torpedo flotilla, the stone-laden steamers reached Port Arthur on Wednesday. While the fleet engaged the shore batteries, the steamers made a dash for the mouth of the harbor, directly under the Russian guns.

Details of the attack have not been received here, but it is evident that the Russian fleet was not able to prevent the ships from reaching the points planned for their foundering by the Japanese. It is said that all of the crews of the four vessels escaped in boats and were picked up by Japanese torpedo boat destroyers. The report that two of the torpedo boat destroyers were sunk by the Russians is denied.

No Damage Done.

The naval department has received a brief dispatch from the commander of one of the torpedo boat destroyers saying that no lives and no warships were lost, and that no damage was inflicted by the Russians. Pending the receipt of the official report of Vice Admiral Togo, the naval department declines to make any announcement regarding the affair.

The five merchant vessels which were prepared for sinking were the Jinmen Maru, of 2,531 tons; the Tien Tsin Maru, of 2,942 tons; the Hokoku Maru, of 2,778 tons; the Bujo Maru, of 1,169 tons; and the Rinsen Maru, of 1,340 tons. Each carried five men, two steering and three firing and running the engines.

Warships Repaired.

Paris, Feb. 26.—The Temps' St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs that the Russian warships Retvizan, Novik, Askold and Pallada have completed the repairs necessary. He adds that all the ships damaged are now available for active service and that the Vladivostok squadron makes frequent sorties from that port which remains open. Admiral Makarov is expected to arrive at Port Arthur about March 1.

HAIL TO THE CHIEF.

Czar Sends a Message to General Kuropatkin.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 26.—A stirring manifesto to the army was issued by the czar today in the form of a message to General Kuropatkin, the commander-in-chief of the Russian army in the far east, as follows:

"Although as head of the military administration since 1888, you have worked with energy and self-sacrifice to reorganize and perfect the army, your work is not yet done. The hour has come when I must summon you to head my valiant army, to defend the honor and sovereignty of Russia and her sovereign rights in the far east. Knowing your brilliant gifts and the eminent preparations for battle, I am glad to entrust to you the responsible command of my Manchurian army against the Japanese. I have your heavy work as a minister. May God help you in your difficult task, which you with such self-denial have assumed. In taking leave of you and thanking you for your six years' faithful service, my dear army, I confer on you the order of St. Alexander-Nevis in brilliant. Wishing success to you and trusting to you to transmit to my brave army my imperial greeting and my blessing, may God keep you unharmed.

(Signed.) "NICHOLAS."

SHOTS WELL PLANTED.

Japs Got Too Close to the Shore Batteries.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 26.—A dispatch from Port Arthur says the Japanese torpedo boat attack of Feb. 25, resulted in a Russian success. The accurate shooting of the shore batteries inflicted loss on the enemy and caused the boiler of one of the Japanese torpedo boats to explode.

Early in the morning a Japanese fleet consisting of five cruisers and five torpedo boats appeared on the horizon. The Russian cruisers Askold, Bayan, and Novik were then in the harbor and the Japanese torpedo boats advanced to within thirty or thirty-five cable lengths to attack them. The Japanese battleships and cruisers separated and then advanced again two Russian torpedo boats cruising in Pigeon bay. One of the latter broke through the enemy's lines under a hot fire and reached harbor. At 10:45 o'clock a fierce engagement took place between a Japanese battleship and the Russian cruisers supported by the shore batteries.

In view of the superiority of the enemy's six battleships over the three Russian cruisers, the latter were withdrawn. The enemy ceased fire at 11:25 o'clock and at 12 o'clock the Japanese cruisers, which were chasing the Russian torpedo boats, began to fire on the forts, but the firing did not last long. The Japanese maneuvering was clumsy, and in turning their vessels came so close to one another that Russian shells could be seen falling on them as they huddled together. A Japanese torpedo boat, which was driven ashore near Port Dietzvol, is supposed to have belonged to the flotilla which was escorting the fire ships destroyed on the night of Feb. 23.

ONE MAN WOUNDED.

Russian Loss During the Attack Thursday Morning.

London, Feb. 26.—A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg says the official report of Major General Prug, chief of staff of Vice Admiral Alexeff, on the details of the attack on Port Arthur during the morning of Feb. 25, is as follows:

"The enemy's squadron of sixteen warships approached from the Dalny side toward the harbor of Port Arthur shortly after midnight on the 25th inst., and at once opened fire on our three orders standing outside the roadstead, namely, the Askold, the Bayan and the Novik, and also against the land forts. The bombardment lasted half an hour. At its conclusion our cruisers retired into the harbor. The enemy then bombarded one land battery for several minutes. Then the enemy also retreated, remaining out of the range of our guns.

"In the meanwhile four Japanese cruisers separated from the enemy's main squadron and went on to Golubinskaya bay, where they opened a heavy fire on one of our torpedo boats stationed in the bay, and also on the coast batteries. Consequently the commander of the fort sent troops to this point, but no landing took place. The bombardment there lasted twenty-two minutes, at the expiration of which the Japanese cruisers retreated. The loss on our side this day was one man wounded in one of the land batteries.

"The official commanding at Vladivostok reports that on Feb. 24, early in the morning, ten of the enemy's ships were seen south of the islands. They disappeared on the horizon in the evening."

SECOND NIGHT ATTACK.

Official Reports of Russia and Japan Tell Different Tales.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 26.—(1:30 p. m.)—The government is still waiting details of the second night attack on Port Arthur of Feb. 25. A long telegram from Vice Admiral Alexeff to the czar arrived yesterday, but it was not dealt conclusively with the disposition of the Russian forces in Manchuria, and of course, for strategic reasons, will not be published.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 26. (6 p. m.)—A long official telegram, giving details of the attack on Port Arthur Feb. 25, was received this afternoon and is now in the hands of the military censorship committee. The correspondent of the Associated Press learns that the attack developed into a general engagement between the Japanese squadron and the Russian squadron and forts, which continued for three hours and resulted in the repulse of the Japanese.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The Japanese minister has received the following cablegram from the Japanese minister for foreign affairs, dated Tokyo:

"Before dawn on the 24th instant four old ships under escort of torpedo boats proceeded to the mouth of the harbor of Port Arthur where they were sunk with success in order to close it. The officials and crew of the vessels returned safely. No official report has as yet been received from the admiral commanding the squadron, but there is no doubt that the squadron itself is all safe."

London, Feb. 26.—The Japanese legation today gave out the following official dispatch from Tokyo, dated Feb. 26:

"Early in the morning of Feb. 24, four old vessels escorted by some torpedo boats, were run into the entrance of Port Arthur for the purpose of blocking the mouth of the harbor. The object of sinking these vessels was attained and the officers and crews returned safely.

"Although there is no report regarding our fleet, direct from Admiral Togo, no doubt can be entertained as to its safety."

AS SEEN AT CHIEFOO.

Russians Said to Have Sustained Great Damage.

New York, Feb. 26.—Arrivals from Port Arthur report that before the Tuesday attack the Russians received timely warning from three torpedo boat destroyers which met the Japanese fleet twenty miles outside, says a Herald dispatch from Chiefoo.

The Japanese fleet approached to within eight miles of the entrance and commenced the attack. The first to retaliate were the forts, followed by the Petrovlovsk, the Novik, the Pallada and the Askold. The engagement lasted until nearly daylight, when the Japanese retired. Evidently they attempted to destroy the arsenal.

The forts had five guns silenced. The damage to the town was serious. One shell struck amid the anchorage of junks, blowing many to atoms. The Newsky works and the engine works were struck three times. Several shells fell just short of the arsenal, striking the mud wall surrounding it, but doing no damage.

Several guards were killed by bursting shells. Civilians took refuge in the new part of Port Arthur. Five thousand men are working day and night strengthening the defenses of this garrison, which is 30,000 strong and well provisioned. Three merchant steamers are still at Port Arthur.

France Remains Neutral.

Paris, Feb. 26.—The French foreign office categorically denies the report published in a London Paper that Korea, having become the ally of Japan, under the Japanese Korean treaty, France is thereby required to become the active ally of Russia. The official say the situation does not warrant such a conclusion and add that the treaty does not make the slightest change in the position of France.

Boarded a Britisher.

Aden, Arabia, Feb. 26.—A Russian torpedo boat destroyer stopped and boarded the British Indian steamer Monbassa in the gulf of Suez, twenty-five miles south of Suez. A torpedo destroyer which had already entered the canal, has sailed south again to rejoin the squadron.

F.C. SCHRAMM'S CONFIDENCE IN HYOMEL

Not a Penny Need Be Paid Unless It Cures You of Catarrh.

"Use Hyomel, and be cured of catarrh," says Schramm. When a responsible business house like this comes out and advertises that Hyomel will not cost a penny unless it does all that is claimed for it, it shows what remarkable confidence they have in this scientific medical treatment.

A complete Hyomel outfit consists of a neat inhaler, that can be carried in the pocket or purse, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomel, and costs but $1.

The inhaler lasts a lifetime and when extra bottles of Hyomel are needed, they can be obtained for 50c.

This treatment does away with all disagreeable and dangerous stomach dosing. Breathed through the Hyomel inhaler for a few minutes four times a day, it impregnates every particle of air taken into the air passages and lungs with germ-killing and health-giving balsams. In this way it cures the most chronic and deep-seated catarrhal diseases of the air passages and respiratory organs.

Hyomel is the sole judge whether Hyomel is to be paid for or not. If it does not help, F. C. Schramm will cheerfully return the money and it will not cost a penny.

TROUBLE FOR THIBET

Great Britain Has a Grievance and an Expedition Is on the Way.

London, Feb. 26.—Lord Hardwicke, under secretary for India, in the house of lords today, replying to the request of Lord Rayner, liberal, for further information regarding the British mission to Thibet, said the government was determined to insist on a final settlement regarding carrying out of the terms of the convention of 1890. The Thibetans had refused to have intercourse with Great Britain, but the result of their continual intercourse with Russia had been to inspire the Thibetans with the feeling that they had Russia behind them, and therefore they need not fear the British. This situation the Indian government and its majesty's government could not tolerate for a moment.

While Lord Hardwicke refused to pledge the government regarding the limit of Colonel Younghusband's advance into Thibet, he said the mission was friendly, and Colonel Younghusband would do nothing to promote hostilities.

SCAFFOLD COLLAPSED

Frightful Fall of Two Chicago Workmen—One Instantly Killed.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—One man was killed, another probably fatally injured, and a score of other workmen were badly scared from being crushed beneath a large scaffold which collapsed this afternoon in the center of the new postoffice building. The scaffold was built from the main floor of the building directly beneath the dome to the tenth floor, a distance of 161 feet. Thirty-five men were working about the dome at the time of the accident, and for a time it was thought that this number had been killed by the falling timber, but all escaped, with the exception of two plasterers, James Byron and Barney McBride who were working on the scaffold when it gave way. They fell from the main floor of the building and Byron was instantly killed. Barney McBride, who was working with Byron, also fell with the scaffolding, but he caught one of the floors and thus saved his life, although he was severely injured.

RELIEF FOR SETTLERS.

Bill Passed Legalizing Faulty Final Proofs.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—The senate today passed a bill which has passed the house to legalize applications and final proof for entering public lands in cases where the papers were executed before officers out of land districts in which lands sought to be entered were located. This law will afford relief to numerous settlers upon public lands, who, through inadvertence, have not complied with the technical provisions of the statute requiring all papers relating to entries to be executed in the land district containing the land.

Attorney General Van Orsdel and Land Register Tynan of Wyoming made arrangements today with the officers of the reclamation service relative to the form and method of filing application to the state of Wyoming for water rights for the Shoshone river irrigation project. A final application was agreed upon, and Attorney General Van Orsdel, who has been working on the matter several weeks, believes the application will be granted by the reclamation service from commencing work on the Shoshone project.

CASE DISMISSED.

Last of the Alleged Offer of $250,000 to Notorious Butte Judge.

Butte, Feb. 26.—Upon motion of County Attorney Brown, Judge McClellan in the district court today dismissed the bribery charge against Charles W. Clark, son of Senator W. A. Clark, based upon the alleged offer of $250,000 to Judge E. W. Harney for a confession that he had been bribed to render a judicial decision in the Minnie Healey case. The charges were also the basis of disbarment proceedings against A. J. Shores and D. Gay Stivers, attorneys for the Amalgamated Copper company.

The attorneys were exonerated and as a result the proceedings against Mr. Clark were dismissed.

COUNT DE PENALOSA WAS A BAD INVESTMENT

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 26.—Countess Marie de Penalosa was granted a divorce here today in the circuit court from Count Henri de Penalosa. In her petition the countess, who is a St. Louis housewife, charged that the count had spent her fortune and had paid attention to other women. One witness, Miss Christine Mens, testified that while he was in St. Louis, he had been in conference with him for some time. The count was summoned from a meeting of the board of estimates to meet Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan at the end of his visit said that he had made over a friendly offer to Mr. McClellan and politics had not been discussed.

BUSY BRYAN.

New York, Feb. 26.—William J. Bryan called on Mayor McClellan today at the city hall and in a conference with him for some time. The mayor was summoned from a meeting of the board of estimates to meet Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan at the end of his visit said that he had made over a friendly offer to Mr. McClellan and politics had not been discussed.

WARDROP IS HANGED

Man Arrested in Salt Lake Pays Penalty For Murder in Sacramento.

San Quentin, Cal., Feb. 26.—Charles Wardrip was hanged in the state prison this morning for the murder of Hugh Duffy in Sacramento, Feb. 17, 1902. The drop fell at 10:30 o'clock. Wardrip made no statement on the scaffold, and met his death bravely. The crime for which Wardrip has thus paid the penalty was committed while he was attempting to rob a house in Sacramento occupied by a family named Bartel. The Bartels were away, but their neighbor, Hugh Duffy, saw Wardrip enter the house and at once went over to the place to investigate. He broke down the door and was immediately shot down by Wardrip. The case of young Wardrip was appealed to the supreme court, but the court confirmed the verdict of the lower court. Wardrip had been in San Quentin since August, 1902.

Charles Wardrip was arrested in Salt Lake through information given Sheriff Naylor in the fall of 1902 by a Greek companion. Wardrip and the other man met in Ogden, and while coming to Salt Lake in a box car, Wardrip told his companion of his guilt. They slept in a dairy barn and stole chickens. Arrested for petty larceny, they were given jail sentences, and the Greek told the sheriff of his confession.

Sheriff Naylor obtained a pardon from Mayor Thompson for Wardrip on the larceny charge, and promptly arrested him on a charge of murder. As a reward had been offered, the police department made objection to the sheriff's course, and there was a dispute, but Sheriff Naylor made a settlement whereby he received at least part of the money.

Wardrip's companion in the murder has never been captured.

TRAIN WRECKING CASE.

Defense Producing a Good Line of Testimony.

Cripple Creek, Feb. 26.—The taking of testimony for the defense was continued today in the case against Sherman Parker and Thomas Foster, miners' union leaders, charged with attempted train wrecking. Victor M. Meher saw that he saw D. C. Scott, special agent for the Florence & Cripple Creek railroad, and another man pulling spikes from the track. This testimony is depended upon to establish the truth of the contents of the defense that the railroad track was tampered with by agents of the company in order to make it appear that the striking miners, who were members of the Western Federation of Miners, were committing acts of violence. Three witnesses gave evidence tending to establish an alibi for Parker.

SHIPPING BILL HEARING.

Committee of the House Listens to Arguments.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The house committee on merchant marine and fisheries today listened to the arguments of many representatives of the ocean shipping industries of the country in favor of the Frye-Littlefield bill providing that the commerce between the United States and the Philippine islands shall be carried in American ships, but exempting the inter-island trade in the Philippines from the operation of the navigation laws of the United States which are, under existing law, made applicable after July 1.

PERJURER GIVEN UP BY THE JAPANESE

Chicago, Feb. 26.—The Japanese government has agreed to surrender a Japanese subject to the United States under extradition proceedings. Samuro Adachi, a Japanese, living in Honolulu, was charged there with perjury, committed in connection with the trial of cases involving alleged importation of Japanese women for immoral purposes. He fled to Japan. The state department has just been informed that the Japanese government has granted its request for the man's extradition and has surrendered him to an agent for Hawaii, who will sail with him for Honolulu from Yokohama on the Siberia today.
